WiG's Parity Certification™—the first of its kind created in North America in 2017 with the pro bono support of McKinsey & Company—enables organizations to concretely close the gender gap at every level of their hierarchy. With the support of its partners Accenture, Mercer and WTW, WiG evaluates and guides companies on their journey towards parity, taking into account intersectionality and the multiple facets of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

We are also proud to offer high-level events with inspiring international speakers, very robust governance training programs, as well as globally acclaimed mentoring programs for women at both the executive and the professional levels.
